34th Meeting of the American Society of Primatologists (ASP) September 16-19, 2011 • Austin, TX

ASP is an educational and scientific organization whose purpose is to encourage the discovery, exchange and dissemination of information regarding the biology and care of nonhuman primates. The Society's 700+ members include scientists and educators in anthropology, psychology, the biological and biomedical sciences and veterinary medicine. ASP's annual meeting allows eminent primatologists from around the world to discuss their latest research on primate anatomy, behavior and development—and in support of public policy, conservation and biomedical research.

2011 Featured Speakers include Keynote Speaker Richard Wrangham (Professor of Biological Anthropology, Harvard University): "Chimpanzees, Bonobos & the Self-Domestication Hypothesis"; ASP Past-President Suzette Tardif (Professor of Cellular & Structural Biology, University of Texas Health Science Center): "Marmosets as Marmosets & Marmosets as Models: Life at the Interface"; ASP 2010 Distinguished Primatologist Karen Strier (Professor of Anthropology, University of Wisconsin, Madison): "Behavior & Conservation over Ecological & Evolutionary Time"; and Judy Cameron (Professor of Psychiatry, University of Pittsburgh): "The Impact of Everyday Life Stresses on Reproductive Function: Mechanisms Underlying Stress Sensitivity".

Panels & sessions from this year's rich program include: Creating Better Primate Housing ★ Chimpanzee Self-Control: Choosing Symbolic Tokens for Trade Later Instead of Food Now ★ Tool Use in Bonobos ★ Neurophysiological Evidence for a Mirror Neuron System in Newborn Rhesus Macaques ★ The Effects of Human Disturbance on Chimpanzee Nesting in Senegal ★ Brain Structures Associated with Temperament & Social Behavior in Rhesus Monkeys ★ Reproductive Function & Dysfunction in Nonhuman Primates ★ The Great Ape Heart Project ★ Primate Genomics & Translational Medicine ★ Visual Attention to Social Partners in Capuchin Monkeys ★ Is Play Training for the Unexpected in Wild Chimpanzees? ★ Navigating Small Spaces: Do Nonhuman Primates Use Landmarks? ★ Maternal Success & Sociability in Captive Lowland Gorillas ★ Applying Speciation Models to Comparative Primate Genome Data ★ The Sound of One Hand Clapping in the Chimpanzee's Brain ★ Exploring Chimpanzee Face Space ★ The Symbolic Mind: Acquisition of Auditory & Visual Associations by Bonobos ★ Primate Neuroethology ★ Large-Scale Primate Genome Sequencing ★ Friend Today, Food Tomorrow: The Dynamic Relationship between the Chimpanzees & Baboon of Gombe ★ The Message of Ape Conservation in Europe ★ Can Island Dwarfism Explain the Tiny Brain of the Flores Hominid?

The Library of Social Science's book exhibit will be at the heart of the meeting space in the Hilton Austin's Salon G alongside coffee breaks and registration. The influential educators and researchers who attend this large, collegial meeting seek monographs for their own research and texts for classroom adoption. Our exhibit will constitute a comprehensive collection of recent and significant titles in primatology and related fields from the major publishers.

Our professional exhibit managers will be on-site from the beginning of the conference to its conclusion. We actively promote your titles by distributing flyers and catalogs, discussing books with attendees, selling books on-site using publisher-supplied order forms, and urging faculty to consider titles for course adoption and library acquisition.

This is one of the best opportunities of the year to promote your titles to a prime market of scholars, educators and other professionals eager to acquire the latest publications covering all areas of primatology, evolution and genetics, evolutionary psychology, and primate ecology, conservation and protection.

Please fax your reservation form now to hold a space for your press. Shipping instructions will follow.
